There are perhaps thirty caterers within a mile of Madison Square who make a business of supplying private diningtables. For the regular customer a gas oven is provided and left in the family kitchen. The meal goes to the house in a caterer's basket and is put into the oven. Buy the time the table is spread it is as warm and tempting as though it had been prepared in the house. The family bas the privilege of selecting from the bill of fare in a general way, but it is the pride of the caterer to send those dishes that are least perishable or the savor of which is not impaired by delay in serving. Fricassee, fish and croquettes are readily transferred from Union Square to Central Park; a fillet can go a mile and be toothsome, and a roast from Harlem to Tarrytown, but no cook will guarantee to send a steak a block away from the broiler and have it tickle the palate of the guest, Delicate things like omelets are made over a spirit lamp.

Until To-Morrow. If you have a task to do
The seems up it you'd no er get through,
Butere me, that the wisest way
Is to begin the task to-way. If you have a word unsaid. Spoken, wou'd make one comforted, to find that one, and say it siraight, It is a word that cannot wait. If you can do a kindly deed. Can heal the sick or tungry feed, De not leave the deed unione Unit you see to me you a sun. But angry word, and selfish way, are best put off 'no her day, And then another day a ain, Fostpone what gives another pain.
